RESEARCH AND COMMUNICATIONS

Questionnaire (topline data removed) from National Poll Regarding the Ocean

Interviewing conducted July 24 through August 8, 1999.
N = 1,500 adults 18 years old or older in the United States.
Margin of sampling error is  $\pm 2.5$  percentage points.
Data have been weighted by race and region.
Percents may add up to 99% or 101% due to rounding.
* indicates less than 1%, -- indicates zero.

Hello, my name is ___ and I am an interviewer with Belden Opinion Research. We are conducting a public opinion survey and your telephone number was selected at random. We are not selling anything. May I please speak to the person 18 years old or older in your household who had a birthday most recently? (IF NECESSARY ARRANGE FOR A CALL BACK AND RECORD DATE AND TIME. REPEAT INTRO AS NECESSARY)

Here are some issues the country will be facing over the next few years. I'd like to ask you how big of a priority each issue should be. Let's start with _____. Should it be an extremely high priority, a high, a middle, a low, or an extremely low priority for the country to address? (SCRAMBLE)

Here are some reasons people have told us why they believe we need to do more to save the oceans. Now I'd like to know what your reaction is to these different ideas. As I read each one, please tell me how convincing a reason it is to you personally to want to do more to protect the health of the oceans. Think of a scale of 1 to 10 on which 1 means that the statement is not convincing to you at all and 10 means it is extremely convincing to you to protect the oceans. Use any number from 1 to 10. The first one is:

	Mean	% saying 10

44a. the oceans are essential to human survival. Pollution in the oceans eventually ends up in the food we eat, affects the earth's climate, and the air we breathe. (Base = 374)	.	%
44b. the oceans are beautiful and inspiring, but this beauty is being harmed by pollution in the water and on beaches. (Base = 380)	.	%
44c. all living things are connected. When pollutants destroy plants or animals in the oceans that impacts our quality of life and health of the whole planet. (Base = 374)	.	%
44d. we need to think about what we are leaving future generations. There are more pollutants in the oceans than ever before. We need to take responsibility for ocean health today to ensure that there are healthy oceans for future generations. (Base = 372)	.	%
45. the oceans help regulate the earth's climate and produce 70% of our oxygen.	.	%
Split sample:
46a. each of us has a personal responsibility to protect the oceans and reduce the damage done by our actions. Each year, individuals dump 180 million gallons of used motor oil into sewage drains, that is 15 times more oil getting into the oceans than the Exxon Valdez spill. (Base = 751)	.	%
46b. each of us has a personal opportunity to protect the oceans and reduce the damage done by our actions. Each year, individuals dump 180 million gallons of used motor oil into sewage drains, that is 15 times more oil getting into the oceans than the Exxon Valdez spill. (Base = 749)	.	%
47. oceans provide us with water to swim in, places to go fishing, and beaches to play on. To continue to enjoy the oceans, we need to stop careless use that pollutes them.	.	%
48. more plants, fish, and animals live in the ocean than live on land, but destructive and wasteful fishing practices are endangering thousands of species of fish and marine life.	.	%
Split sample:
49a. the current rate of building new homes, roads, and other development along the coasts is destroying the coasts' natural beauty. (Base = 751)	.	%
49b. development of homes and businesses in coastal areas harm coastal habitats and decrease plant and animal populations. 75% of endangered mammals and birds rely on coastal habitats.(Base = 749)	.	%
